

Police and Fire Scholarship

To honor local fire fighters' and police officers' service to the University community and the city, the University of Chicago announces its annual scholarship program.

To be considered for this full-tuition scholarship, candidates must be high school seniors who qualify for admission to the University of Chicago and be children (or the legally adopted children) of currently active, sworn Chicago Fire Fighters, Chicago Police Officers, or University of Chicago Police Officers who will remain active for the duration of their children's college careers. Students whose parent lost their life in the line of duty are also eligible to apply.

Each winner is guaranteed full tuition for four years of undergraduate studies (12 academic quarters), provided he or she makes satisfactory academic progress and remains enrolled full-time in the College.

Additional financial aid is also available for families who apply and qualify for need-based aid.

Scholarship recipients with John Boyer, Dean of the College, Garry McCarthy, Superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, and Jose Santiago, Fire Commissioner of the Chicago Fire Department.
