anima sana in corpore sano

a sound mind in a sound body
“Winning isn’t worthwhile unless one has something finer and nobler behind it.”

Amos Alonzo Stagg (1862–1965)
Director of Physical Culture and Athletics at the University of Chicago during its first 41 years
University of Chicago Athletics aim to enrich the physical and intellectual lives of our students. We are invested in competitive excellence as we challenge our student-athletes to develop into their best selves as athletes, teammates, students, and, ultimately, citizens of the world. Through sport, we teach how to work collaboratively, reach performance goals, embrace diversity of thought and culture, persevere through adversity with resiliency, and compete with integrity.

Athletics for all
Clubs are led by student members and funded by the University. There are over 40 different athletic clubs with hundreds of participants annually. Sport clubs are organized primarily to engage in competition with teams at other colleges and universities, while recreational clubs place emphasis on the acquisition of skills and strategies with little or no intercollegiate competition.

The Intramural Sports Program at the University of Chicago offers opportunities for everyone to take an active role in sports by providing an arena in which individuals can compete against one another in a friendly environment. More than 30 intramural sports are offered each quarter of the academic year.
